

The Grace & Wisdom of Grief

Through the Way of the Horse

Grief is a normal, natural part of our human experience. Whenever a significant bond is broken, there is a sense of loss. The more significant that loss the more we grieve.

"When we do not mourn a deep loss fully, we condemn the unconscious to hold the magnitude of that pain and loss somewhere within itself." - Tian Dayton, PhD.

Saturday, April 28, 2018

9am to 5pm

The grieving journey is unique to every person. Along the way horses offer a bridge to the Grace and Wisdom of one of life's most tender and vulnerable passages. Horses meet you where you are and lead the way ~ no judgement, no agenda. Grief is not a problem to be solved, it is a fact of life that wants to be witnessed, felt, and held with the time and respect that it needs.
